

SL33 Sample Initial Setup

Set the level and the threshold so that your program material just barely begins to be attenuated. Set the threshold as high as possible and the level as low as possible for most transparent performance. If you use the threshold to cut the signal you will better limit the peaks, but will have a more "squashed" signal.